Sam Knox, Owner of Knox Driving School

Sam Knox is an expert in the Driver Education field, having taught for over 39 years and successfully turning out over 4,000 students. He loves his work, and it shows! Sam began his Driver Education career in the Lansing School District where he taught driver education for 33 years at Eastern High School.

After retirement, he worked another three years with the Central Driving School, teaching high school and Special Needs students. Sam has operated his own company, Knox Driving School, for the past eleven years.

He has taken a great deal of pride in his work and has especially enjoyed working with the young people. Sam grew up and now lives in East Lansing with his wife and his Great Pyrenees, Chenoa.
